4. Directors forming part of the audit committee shall hold office for as long as their appointment as directors of the Company remains in force, unless the Board of Directors resolves otherwise. The renewal, re-election and removal of directors on the committee shall be governed by the resolutions of the Board of Directors.

The office of Chairman shall be held for a maximum period of four years, at the end of which he may not be re-elected as such for a period of one year after leaving office, without prejudice to his continuation or re-election as a member of the Commission.

2. The Board of Directors shall also meet, at the initiative of the chairman, as often as the chairman deems appropriate for the proper functioning of the company and also when requested under the terms set forth in article 9.3 above.
3. Notice of meetings of the Board of Directors shall be given by the secretary of the Board of Directors or acting secretary, with the authorisation of the chairman of the Board of Directors, by any means capable of being received by each of the members of the Board of Directors on file with the Company. The notice of meeting shall be sent at least three days before the date and time set for the meeting. The notice shall always include the agenda of the meeting and shall be accompanied by the relevant information duly prepared and summarised.

4. The agenda of the meetings shall clearly indicate those points on which the Board of Directors must adopt a decision or resolution so that the directors may study or obtain, in advance, the information necessary for its adoption. When, exceptionally, for reasons of urgency, the chairman wishes to submit to the Board of Directors for approval decisions or resolutions not appearing on the agenda, the prior express consent of the majority of the directors in attendance shall be required, which shall be duly recorded in the minutes.

In the case of non-executive directors, they may only be represented by another member of the Board of Directors in the same capacity. Directors' absences from board meetings shall be quantified in the annual corporate governance report.
3. The chairman shall organise and stimulate debate by seeking and promoting the active participation of all directors during board meetings, safeguarding their freedom of position and expression of opinion.

5. Minutes of the meetings of the Board of Directors shall be drawn up and signed by at least the chairman (or vice-chairman, as the case may be) and the secretary or deputy secretary, and shall be transcribed or recorded, in accordance with legal regulations, in a special book of minutes of the Board of Directors.

3. Directors appointed by co-option shall hold office until the first general shareholders' meeting held after their appointment, and shall leave office if the aforementioned general shareholders' meeting does not ratify their appointment. In the event of a vacancy occurring after the general meeting of shareholders has been called and before it is held, the Board of Directors may appoint a director until the next general meeting of shareholders is held.

Article 21. Removal of directors

1. Directors shall cease to hold office at the end of the term for which they were appointed and when so decided by the general meeting of shareholders in exercise of the powers conferred on it by law or by the Articles of Association.

- (iii) When they are seriously reprimanded by the Board of Directors for having breached their duties as directors.
- (iv) When their continuance on the Board of Directors could jeopardise or damage the interests, credit or reputation of the Company or when the reasons for which they were appointed cease to exist, including, without limitation, when there are significant changes in their professional situation or in the conditions under which they were appointed as directors.
- (v) When they are accused or prosecuted in criminal proceedings or are the subject of disciplinary proceedings for serious or very serious misconduct by the supervisory authorities.
- (vi) In the case of proprietary directors (i) when the shareholder they represent sells its entire shareholding interest or reduces it significantly and, (ii) in the corresponding number, when such shareholder reduces its shareholding interest to a level that requires a reduction in the number of proprietary directors.
- (vii) When, due to acts attributable to the director, his or her continuance on the Board of Directors causes serious damage to the company's assets or reputation in the opinion of the board.
- (viii) When they sit on more than four boards of directors of other listed companies (other than the Company).

Article 22. Objectivity and secrecy of votes

Directors affected by proposals for appointment, re-election or removal shall abstain from taking part in deliberations and voting on such proposals. All votes of the Board of Directors concerning the appointment, re-election or removal of directors shall be public unless a director requests that the vote be taken by secret ballot.

TITLE VII.- DIRECTOR'S INFORMATION

Article 23. Powers of information and inspection

1. Directors have the duty to diligently inform themselves about the Company's progress. To this end, the director may request information on any matter within the competence of the Board of Directors and, in this regard, examine its books, records, documents and other documentation. The right to information extends to subsidiaries in all cases, and to investee companies, whenever possible.
2. The request for information shall be addressed to the secretary of the Board of Directors, who shall forward it to the chairman of the Board of Directors and to the appropriate contact person within the Company.

3. The secretary shall advise the director of the confidential nature of the information he/she requests and receives and of his/her duty of confidentiality in accordance with the provisions of these regulations.
4. The chairman may refuse to provide information if he considers: (i) that it is not necessary for the proper performance of the director's duties or (ii) that its cost is unreasonable in view of the importance of the issue and the assets and revenues of the Company.
5. The directors shall be regularly informed of movements in shareholding and of the views of major shareholders, investors and rating agencies on the Company.

Article 24. Expert assistance

1. In order to be assisted in the performance of their duties, all directors may obtain from the Company the advice necessary for the performance of their duties. To this end, the Company shall provide the appropriate channels which, in special circumstances, may include external advice at the Company's expense.
2. The assignment must necessarily deal with specific problems of a certain importance and complexity that arise in the performance of the duties of the office.
3. The decision to engage external advisors at the Company's expense has to be communicated to the chairman of the Board of Directors of the Company and may be vetoed by the Board of Directors if it proves:
 - (i) which is not necessary for the full performance of the duties entrusted to external directors;
 - (ii) its cost is unreasonable in view of the importance of the problem and the Company's assets and income; or
 - (iii) that the technical assistance sought can be adequately provided by the Company's experts and technicians.

TITLE VIII.- REMUNERATION OF THE MEMBERS OF THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS

Article 25. Remuneration of directors

1. Directors shall be entitled to receive the remuneration established in the Articles of Association. The total amount of remuneration that may be paid by the Company to all of its directors for the items provided for in the Articles of Association shall not exceed the amount determined for this purpose in the remuneration policy approved by the general meeting of shareholders.
2. The specific determination of the amount corresponding to each of the above items for each of the directors shall be made by the Board of Directors in accordance with the Articles of Association and the directors' remuneration policy, which shall be approved at least every three years by the shareholders at the general shareholders' meeting. For this purpose, it shall take into account the positions held by each director on the board itself and their membership of and attendance at the various committees, taking into account the duties and responsibilities attributed to each of them.

3. Directors' remuneration should be in reasonable proportion to the importance of the Company, its economic situation at any given time, the standards that are met on the market in companies of a similar size or activity, and take into account their dedication to the Company. The remuneration system established must be aimed at promoting the long-term profitability and sustainability of the Company and incorporate the necessary precautions to avoid the excessive assumption of risks and unfavourable results. Specifically, the remuneration system, in the event of incorporating variable remuneration mechanisms, must establish the necessary limits and safeguards to ensure that the variable remuneration is related to the professional performance of the beneficiaries, the evolution of the share price, non-financial objectives such as the sustainability of the Company and does not derive solely from the general evolution of the markets or the sector.
4. Likewise, the Board of Directors shall ensure that the amount of remuneration of external directors is such that it provides incentives to reward their dedication, qualifications and responsibility, but does not compromise their independence.
5. Remuneration linked to the Company's results shall take into account any qualifications in the auditor's report that reduce the Company's results.
6. The Board of Directors shall ensure that variable remuneration provides for the deferral of payment of a relevant part of its components to enable it to carry out sufficient verification that the performance or other conditions previously established have been effectively met and, in the event that it becomes apparent that the financial statements or the parameters on which such remuneration was based need to be corrected, or the infringement by the beneficiaries of legal norms or rules of the internal corporate governance system, including the code of ethics, the variable remuneration shall include the necessary mechanisms to cancel, in whole or in part, the settlement of outstanding payments and, if applicable, to recover the amounts previously paid to the beneficiaries.
7. The Board of Directors shall prepare an annual report on directors' remuneration in accordance with the terms established in the applicable regulations. This report shall be made available to the shareholders when the ordinary general meeting of shareholders is called and shall be submitted to a consultative vote as a separate item on the agenda.

TITLE IX.- DUTIES OF THE DIRECTOR

Article 26. General obligations of the director

1. In the performance of their duties, directors shall act with the diligence of an orderly businessman and a loyal representative, taking into account the nature of the office and the functions attributed to each of them. Their actions shall be guided solely by good faith and the interests of the company, seeking the best defence and protection of the interests of the shareholders as a whole, from whom they derive their mandate and to whom they are accountable. In particular, directors are obliged to:

- (i) Be informed and prepare adequately for the meetings of the Board of Directors and, where appropriate, of the delegated bodies to which it belongs;
- (ii) Attend meetings of the Board of Directors and actively participate in the deliberations so that their judgement contributes effectively to decision-making.

- (iii) Contribute (and, to a greater extent, the independent directors) their strategic vision, as well as concepts, criteria and innovative measures for the optimum development and evolution of the Company's business.
- (iv) Perform their duties on the principle of personal responsibility with freedom of judgement and independence from instructions and third party involvement.
- (v) Perform any specific task entrusted to him/her by the Board of Directors or any of its delegated and/or consultative bodies and which is reasonably included in his/her commitment of dedication.
- (vi) Promote the investigation of any irregularity in the management of the Company of which it may have become aware and immediately report it to the Board of Directors and the monitoring of any risk situation.
- (vii) Urge the persons empowered to call an extraordinary meeting of the Board of Directors or include in the agenda of the first meeting to be held such items as it deems appropriate.
- (viii) Oppose resolutions that are contrary to law, the Articles of Association or the corporate interest, and request that their position be recorded in the minutes when they consider it most appropriate for the protection of the corporate interest. Independent directors and other directors who are not affected by the potential conflict of interest must, in particular, clearly express their opposition in the case of decisions that may be detrimental to shareholders not represented on the Board of Directors.

In the event that the Board of Directors adopts significant or reiterated decisions about which a director has expressed serious reservations, the director shall draw the appropriate conclusions and, if necessary, tender his resignation.

The provisions of this section shall apply to the secretary and, where appropriate, the deputy secretary of the Board of Directors, even if they are not directors.

- (ix) When, either by resignation or by resolution of the general meeting, a director resigns before the end of his term of office, he shall sufficiently explain the reasons for his resignation or, in the case of non-executive directors, his views on the reasons for the removal by the meeting, in a letter to be sent to all members of the Board of Directors.

2. In any event, directors must devote to their duties the time and effort necessary to perform them effectively and, consequently, directors must inform the appointments and remuneration committee of their other professional obligations, in case they might interfere with the dedication required.

Article 27. Director's duty of confidentiality

1. Directors shall keep secret the deliberations of the Board of Directors and of the delegated bodies of which they are members and, in general, shall refrain from disclosing any information to which they have had access in the course of their duties.
2. The obligation of confidentiality shall subsist even when he has ceased to hold office, and he must keep secret any information of a confidential nature and any information, data, reports or background information he may become aware of as a result of holding office, and may not be communicated to third parties or be disclosed when it could have harmful consequences for the corporate interest. Exceptions to the duties referred to in this paragraph are those cases in which the laws permit their communication or disclosure to third parties or which, as the case may be, are required or must be sent to the respective supervisory authorities, in which case, the transfer of information must comply with the provisions of the laws.

Article 28. Non-competition obligation

1. Directors shall refrain from engaging in any activities for their own account or for the account of others that involve effective competition, whether actual or potential, with the Company or that in any way place them in permanent conflict with the interests of the Company.
2. The obligation not to compete with the Company may only be waived if no harm to the Company is to be expected or if the expected harm is outweighed by the anticipated benefits of the waiver. The waiver shall be granted by express and separate resolution of the general meeting of shareholders.
3. In any event, at the request of any shareholder, the general meeting of shareholders shall decide on the removal of a director who engages in competitive activities when the risk of prejudice to the Company has become significant.

Article 29. Conflicts of interest

1. A conflict of interest shall be deemed to exist in those situations in which the interest of the Company or of the companies forming part of its group and the interest of the director directly or indirectly collide. A director's interest shall exist when, among other cases, (i) the matter affects him or a person related to him, or (ii) in the case of a proprietary director, the shareholder or shareholders who proposed or made his appointment or persons directly or indirectly related to them.

2. For the purposes of these regulations, persons related to the director shall be understood to be natural persons:
 - a) The director's spouse or persons with an analogous relationship of affectivity.
 - b) Ascendants, descendants and siblings of the director or of the director's spouse (or person with an analogous relationship of affection).
 - c) The spouses (or persons in a similar relationship) of the ascendants, descendants and siblings of the director.
 - d) Companies or entities in which the director (i) holds directly or indirectly, including through an intermediary, a shareholding that gives him/her significant influence or (ii) holds a position on the administrative body or in senior management in them or in their parent company.

For these purposes, significant influence is presumed to be conferred by any holding equal to or exceeding 10% of the share capital or of the voting rights or by virtue of which it has been possible to obtain, de jure or de facto, representation on the management body of such a company.
 - e) In the case of proprietary directors, additionally, the shareholders at whose proposal their appointment was made.
3. Directors must disclose the existence of conflicts of interest, whether direct or indirect, to the Board of Directors and refrain from acting as a representative of the Company in the transaction to which the conflict refers, subject to the exceptions established by applicable law. In addition, the Company shall report, where applicable by law, any situation of conflict of interest in which the directors (or persons related thereto) have found themselves during the financial year in question and of which it is aware by virtue of a communication from the affected party or by any other means. Situations of conflict of interest in which directors are involved shall be disclosed in the notes to the financial statements of the Company.

Article 30. Use of corporate assets

A director may not make use of the assets of the Company, including confidential information of the Company, or use his position in the Company to obtain a pecuniary advantage unless he has paid adequate consideration.

Article 31. Non-public information

Directors shall observe the rules of conduct established in securities market regulations and, in particular, those enshrined in the Company's Internal Regulations for Conduct in the Securities Markets in relation to the treatment of inside information.

Article 32. Business opportunities

1. A director may not take advantage of a business opportunity of the Company for his own benefit or for the benefit of a person related to him under the terms established in article 29 of these regulations, unless he has previously offered it to the Company and the Company desists from exploiting it.
2. For the purposes of the preceding paragraph, a business opportunity means any possibility of making an investment or commercial transaction which arose or was discovered in connection with the director's performance of his duties, or through the use of the Company's means and information, or under such circumstances that it is reasonable to believe that the third party's offer was in fact addressed to the Company.

Article 33. Indirect Transactions

A director is in breach of his duty of loyalty to the Company if, knowing in advance, he allows or fails to disclose the existence of transactions carried out by the related persons referred to in article 29 of these regulations that have not been subject to the conditions and controls provided for in the preceding articles.

Article 34. Duties of information of the director

1. Directors must inform the Company of the shares in the Company that they hold directly or indirectly through the related persons indicated in article 29 of these regulations, all in accordance with the provisions of the Company's Internal Regulations for Conduct in the Securities Markets.
2. Directors must also inform the Company of the positions they hold on the governing bodies of other companies and, in general, of any facts, circumstances or situations that may be relevant to their performance as a director of the Company in accordance with the provisions of these regulations.
3. Likewise, all directors must inform the Company in those cases that may damage the credit and reputation of the Company and, in particular, they must inform the Board of Directors of any criminal cases in which they are under investigation, whether or not they are related to their actions in the Company itself, as well as of the subsequent procedural events.
4. In the event that a director is summoned as a person under investigation or is brought to trial, the Board of Directors shall examine the case as soon as possible and, in view of the specific circumstances, shall decide, following a report from the appointments and remuneration committee, whether or not to adopt any measure, such as opening an internal investigation, requesting the director's resignation or proposing his or her removal. A reasoned account of these circumstances shall be given in the annual corporate governance report, unless there are special circumstances justifying this, which shall be recorded in the minutes. This is without prejudice to the information that the company must disclose, if appropriate, when the corresponding measures are adopted.

Article 35. Related transactions

1. Without prejudice to the provisions of section 2 below, the Board of Directors or, in the event that it has been constituted and provided that there is urgency, the executive committee or the chief executive officer, with the subsequent ratification of the Board of Directors, shall be responsible for approving the execution by the Company of any related-party transaction as that term is defined in the relevant legislation in force from time to time (except in those cases in which it is appropriate under the law to delegate the approval of related-party transactions on the terms established therein).
2. Authorisation must necessarily be granted by the general meeting of shareholders when it concerns a related-party transaction whose amount or value is equal to or exceeds 10% of the company's assets according to the latest annual balance sheet approved by the company.
